Police Seek Woman In Kennedy's Death

Tributes Pour Into U.S. From Nations' Leaders

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The world reacted today with grief and horror at the death of Senator Robert F. Kennedy and expressed its disappointment in and concern for the United States.

People for whom the Kennedy name meant America wept.

Chiefs of state and government leaders around the world joined in mourning. The Queen, President de Gaulle, Prime Minister Wilson and Italian President Giuseppe Saragat were among the first to send messages of condolences.

De Gaulle dispatched messages to President Johnson and Mrs. Kennedy. His telegram to the senator's wife said:

"I learn with great grief of the death of Senator Kennedy. France shares the pain of a family so cruelly stricken. My wife joins me in praying that you realize our profound sympathy."

President Johnson led the United States in mourning today as Americans reacted in grief and sorrow to the assassination.

The president, saying Kennedy had never abandoned faith in America although he knew far more than his share of personal tragedy, called for the U.S. to observe a national day of mourning Sunday.

EXTENSIVE SYMPATHY

In Sudbury, Ont., Prime Minister Trudeau said Kennedy's death "is a blow to all of us." He was extending the sympathy of Canadians to Senator Kennedy's wife and family and to all Americans.

In Saint John, N.B., Progressive Conservative Leader Stanfield said Senator Kennedy's death is a blow to a country which has sought to provide a better answer to men's problems than a resort to violence.

Autopsy Ordered In Lake Death

An autopsy will be held to determine the cause of death of Jim Moir, 85, Postill Lake Road, found Wednesday afternoon at Duck Lake.

Police had been looking for Mr. Moir since May 27, after neighbors reported not seeing him since May 23.

Conservation officer D. B. Stewart discovered some clothing at the lake Wednesday while making a duck count.

Dogmaster Sgt. McKay of Kamloops and his dog Klia were taken to the clothing, which belonged to Mr. Moir. The body was found on the west shore of Duck Lake, partly in the water.

A CHURCHILL DIES

Randolph Churchill, above, only son of the late Sir Winston Churchill, died Wednesday night. He was 57. He underwent an operation March 8, 1964, to remove a portion of his left lung for a non-malignant condition. Churchill was engaged in writing a series of volumes about his father's life. He was twice married but both marriages ended in divorce. He leaves one daughter, Arabella, and a son, Winston. His mother, Lady Spencer-Churchill, 83, is serving as a member of the House of Lords, having been created a baroness after the death of Sir Winston.

In London, former prime minister Lester Pearson of Canada said today Senator Kennedy's death is "shocking, horrible and a so unnecessary tragedy."

Pearson heard the news of Kennedy's death just as he boarded a plane for his return trip to Ottawa.

The Arab world deplored the assassination, but the opinion was widely expressed that he died because of American policy in the Middle East, which the Arabs consider pro-Israeli.

At last the "murder of the Palestinian homeland" has been brought dramatically to the attention of the American people, said one Arabic newspaper in Lebanon.

Slide Kills Four Near Revelstoke

REVELSTOKE, B.C. (CP) — Four persons died Wednesday when a landslide smashed across the Trans-Canada Highway. Police said there were no indications others were missing.

A young girl survived with minor injuries as the slide swept a car 250 feet off the two-lane highway and down an embankment, killing a man, a woman and two other girls, aged 2 and 4.

Highways crews planned to resume digging today, using bulldozers and dynamite to tackle a curving mound of debris, at least 3,000 feet long, up to 600 feet wide and 15 to 20 feet deep.

A rescue official here speculated a cloudburst in the mountains may have helped cut loose the slide, which thundered along the mountain-walled bed of Camp Creek, swollen by runoff and heavy weekend rains.

RCMP said the car, caught up in the toe of the slide and hurled down a 150-foot embankment, came from somewhere on Vancouver Island.

VICTIMS IDENTIFIED

RCMP identified the dead as Ernst John Bitterman, 42, his wife Janet, 34, and their daughters Sandra, 2, and Terry, 4, all of Victoria. A third daughter, Janet, 6, survived.

Carrying trees and rocks, the slide shot through a narrow cleft in steep mountains, roared across the road where it runs roughly north-south, 20 miles west of Revelstoke, and edged into Griffin Lake.

It dumped at least 7,000 tons of rubble on the road alone, highways officials said.

Rangers Hit Saigon Reds

SAIGON (AP) — New fighting broke out inside Saigon today after South Vietnamese rangers had reported crushing the last pocket of Viet Cong resistance in Cholon, the city's Chinese section.

Mop-up operations also continued on the northeast fringe of the capital, in the suburbs of Gia Dinh.

Seen With Male Suspect Just Before Assassination

LOS ANGELES (Reuters) — Los Angeles police issued an all-points alert today for the apprehension of a woman they said might have been involved in the murder of Senator Robert F. Kennedy. A police spokesman said Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, arrested on charges of shooting the senator, was seen with a woman shortly before the attack took place. The woman was described as white, aged 23 to 27, and five feet six inches tall.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Senator Robert F. Kennedy, felled like his president brother by an assassin's bullet, died early today.

His mourning family prepared to take his body home to New York, across the nation Kennedy had hoped to lead as president.

And on Saturday, the senator is to be buried in Arlington National Cemetery, probably at the hilltop plot which is the resting place of his brother, the late John F. Kennedy.

Robert Kennedy, 42, never regained consciousness, never showed signs of recovery after a savage burst of revolver fire sent a bullet plunging into his brain—at the pinnacle of his own campaign for the White House.

WIFE AT BEDSIDE

Kennedy, his pregnant wife, Ethel at his bedside, died at 1:44 a.m. PDT—4:44 a.m. EDT—a little more than 25 hours after the assault at the Ambassador Hotel.

Kennedy's body was to be flown from Los Angeles to New York later today on a jet airplane provided by the White House.

Pierre Salinger, former presidential press secretary, said the body would lie in state Friday at St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York City.

A requiem mass will be held there Saturday morning.

Salinger said Kennedy would be buried late Saturday in Arlington, across the Potomac River from Washington, where an eternal flame flickers in memory of John Kennedy, slain four years and seven months ago.

HOLD POST MORTEM

In preparation for Kennedy's last journey, a post-mortem was under way at Good Samaritan Hospital in downtown Los Angeles.

As Kennedy died, the man accused of shooting him was under heavy guard at a downtown prison hospital, held in $250,000 bail for a court appearance which had been scheduled Monday.

Sirhan Bishara Sirhan was accused of wielding the .22-calibre revolver which cut down Kennedy and wounded five other people early Wednesday as the senator and his supporters celebrated victory in the California presidential primary.

'Inflamed Over Hostilities'

Assistant District Attorney William L. Ritz said his office would ask the Los Angeles County grand jury to indict Sirhan on a charge of murder.

The Los Angeles sheriff's office refused to say whether Sirhan had been advised that Kennedy was dead.

Sirhan, a Jordanian who had been living in Pasadena, was described by those who knew him as a man inflamed over the hostilities between his native state and Israel. A former employer said he might have been enraged by Kennedy's past words of support for Israel.

Senator Edward M. Kennedy, the family's lone surviving son, was at Robert's bedside at the end along with other members of the family.

Salinger said Ethel, the wife, "is bearing up very well."

Kennedy had for eight years been a man of power in Washington. He served as attorney-general to his brother, President John F. Kennedy, who was assassinated in Dallas, Tex., Nov. 22, 1963.

TRUDEAU GUARDED

Police guarded every access to Prime Minister Trudeau's floor in a Sudbury hotel Wednesday night as part of tight security that now will mark his election campaign in the wake of the Kennedy assassination attempt.

The prime minister and his aides were isolated from public contact by a force that included the RCMP, provincial police, Sudbury city police, unmarked patrol cars and plainclothesmen.

'Kelowna Residents Study Reasons Behind Killings

Kelowna people interviewed today seem to agree the assassination of Robert Kennedy is deplorable, but differ on the cause of the killing.

"I think people are shocked, but not as shocked as with Martin Luther King or President Kennedy," said Don McCuaig, 1359 Alder Ct.

"I think people realize now as never before the Negro problem must be dealt with on a reasonable basis and on their terms," he said.

"I don't think these assassinations reflect altogether the American situation," he said, "but it does give an insight. The main problem is gun laws."

"People living in western states particularly seem to believe they are Wild Bill Hickocks," he said. "This is reflected in police with shotguns bolted to dashboards of cruisers and low-slung holsters. It is evident something is wrong."

"It makes me wonder what will happen this summer," said Mr. McCuaig.

Fred Laycock, 1843 Abbott St., feels the war in Vietnam has a bearing on the situation.

"There will be trouble as long as this war continues," he said. "I have spent 20 winters in the U.S., but I have spent my last winter there. It is a violent country."

"The war has a lot to do with the situation," he said, "but also the fact there are a lot of hungry people and a lot of rich people."

"There will be trouble in this country soon if we don't get a good government," he added.

"I think the war in Israel and Egypt has more to do with the situation than the Vietnam war," said W. G. Newsome, 1438 Mountain Ave.

"Men in his position have to take chances, but this is terrible," he said. "I give him credit for staying in the race."

PRETTY LOYAL

"If a man thought anything of his life he would probably get out," said Mrs. Newsome. "He must have been pretty loyal and noble to continue risking his life. Somebody has to run the country."

Mrs. Lillian Kunstler, 1340 Flemish St., said she wonders if there isn't more involved than "just a crazy man."

"This is one of the worst things that could have happened," she said. "I feel there is some link between the killing of the late President and Senator Kennedy."

"This is just the bad state of the world today," she added.

"The immediate reaction is to say the liberal policy of Kennedy is the cause," said Gordon Ray, "and so the Vietnam war and the color problem are both causes."

"The man arrested, however, seems to have different reasons for the act," he said. "I have no doubt violence is becoming generally accepted in the U.S."

"I think there will be a hell of a summer in the States," he said. "Negroes will see the assassination as another step back."

Mrs. Gerry Hoffman of Rutland said she "doesn't see how there won't be a violent summer" in the U.S. this year. "The Negro population will really suffer because of King's assassination and now this."

"It seems as if people have it in for presidents of the U.S.," said Mrs. Ada Webber, 770 Bernard Ave. "President Johnson will be next if they don't watch out."

In Kelowna, flags are at half mast at the city hall and the yacht club, but not at the government building or the post office.

French Crisis Nears End

PARIS (Reuters) — Buses, subway trains and municipal garbage collectors today made their first appearance for nearly three weeks in parts of the French capital.

To Parisians they were the most welcome signs that the great strike crisis was finally nearing an end.

Life was still far from normal throughout the country, with large sectors of industry still paralyzed; but the gradual back-to-work movement of the last few days was rapidly gaining new ground.

In Paris, the first subway line began operating at 8:30 a.m. and others were scheduled to follow after inspection of the lines, not used for 19 days.

By mid-morning, 64 out of 160 bus routes were operating.

TRAFFIC JAMS

Some office workers still were hitch-hiking to work and abnormally large traffic jams built up again as private motorists streamed into the city.

New Principal Appointed To Regional College Here

Dr. Rowland Grant, dean of studies at Selkirk College, near Castlegar, in the West Kootenay, has been appointed principal of the Okanagan Regional College.

Announcement of Dr. Grant's appointment was made today by Charles Finch, college council chairman, council member Frank Orme, who is currently acting principal and A. E. Soles, principal of Selkirk College.

"We are pleased that someone of Dr. Grant's calibre accepted the appointment and we feel he will be a great asset with his academic standing and administrative abilities, in getting our college through the three-year transitional period," he said, in a joint statement.

Dr. Grant has for the past year been responsible for the maintenance of teaching efficiency and academic standards at Selkirk. He was supervisor of the department chairman and through them, directed and coordinated development of the curriculum. During the absence of the principal at Selkirk, he was acting principal.

For the past two years, he has been responsible for setting curriculum, ensuring its quality, and for secondary school graduates and where necessary, its acceptance by the universities. He has also drawn up the annual budget for the academic part of Selkirk's operation.

Dr. Grant was educated at Victoria College and received his B.A., his MSc and his PhD from UBC. He has been an analytical chemist with Aluminum Laboratories, a postdoctorate fellow with the National Research Council and research chemist with the B.C. Research Council.

He was assistant professor, department of chemistry, for five years, at Royal Roads, Canadian Services College, going to Selkirk in 1966. He has won numerous fellowship awards and contributed to many publications.

He is married and has a two-and-a-half-year-old son. He takes up his duties Aug. 1.

Peace Talks Bog Down

PARIS (AP) — The Vietnam ceasefire talks were bogged down today in their longest recess so far, but both the United States and North Vietnam have given the impression that they want to keep the talks going indefinitely.

'Soldiers Of The Queen' Hold Valley Anniversary

A re-union of veterans of the Boer War was held recently in Kelowna on the 66th anniversary of the ending of the South African War.

Not too many of the original

"Soldiers of the Queen" were present to honor the occasion. A dinner was arranged by the Kelowna Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion.

The youngest of the soldiers was 87 and the oldest was 96. The Boer War ended with the Peace of Vereeniging May 31, 1902.

The veterans were addressed by Bob McKee, who used his historical knowledge to relive the days of the war, fought under the cruel climate and terrain of the South African Veldt and Mountain. In his concluding words, Mr. McKee referred to the veterans "heroes still remembered". He referred to the occasion in Kelowna last year, at the presentation of the Centennial Armed Forces Tattoo, when a Boer War veteran, George Dore of Kelowna, stood in the place of honor to receive the March Past of the Armed Forces of Canada.

These men are today the only soldiers who can bridge the years of being soldiers of Queen Victoria and soldiers of her great-granddaughter Queen Elizabeth.

Two Idaho Hunters Fined $400 Each

INVERMERE, B.C. (CP) — Two Idaho hunters were fined $400 each Wednesday for shooting Rocky Mountain goat in Kootenay National Park with bows and arrows, and for having unsealed firearms in the park.

John David Powers, 27, and Charles Bruce Peebles, 20, were charged after two goats were found wounded near Mount Wardle. The animals were shot by park officials.

Both men pleaded guilty. Magistrate Ralph Stick fined each man $300 for shooting game in the park and $100 each for having unsealed firearms. "If you were Canadian citizens," he said, "I would have also confiscated your firearms."

Invermere is 330 miles east of Vancouver.

Now Chief Challenger Gone From Humphrey's Quest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Robert F. Kennedy's death has removed in a tragic manner the chief challenger to Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's quest for the Democratic presidential nomination.

With the New York senator's death, the fateful 1968 election year turned a fatal corner and left what many observers see as an uneven race between Humphrey and his fellow Minnesotan, Senator Eugene J. McCarthy.

Although the Humphrey name has not appeared on any primary ballots, he claims to have built up a long lead by picking up delegates in the tough back-stage battles in the non-primary states while Kennedy and McCarthy were battling it out in primaries.

Many observers felt only the Kennedy mystique and dash could overcome Humphrey's strong base of Democratic "establishment" support among party leaders and labor unions.

Humphrey and his aides had refused to speculate on the political impact of the Kennedy shooting and, along with McCarthy, clamped an indefinite moratorium on campaigning even before the senator's death. "We think it's not only inappropriate to speculate," said a Humphrey aide, "we think it's offensive."

After the Kennedy shooting, a strategist said, Humphrey aides sent appeals to supporters asking that planned caucuses of Ohio and Michigan delegations, where the vice-president hoped to nail down more support, be postponed.

And, the strategist said, Humphrey called off plans to begin campaigning in New York for that state's primary June 18.

He cancelled a schedule calling for him to open his California campaign June 13.

McCarthy, returning to Washington Wednesday night, said he would confer with President Johnson and the vice-president "before taking on other political activities of any kind."

A Humphrey aide had said the vice-president would welcome a meeting with his old friend and political ally from Minnesota.

Helicopter Base Now Operational

The British Columbia operations of Alpine Helicopters Ltd., moved into its Westbank site May 15 and two helicopters are now operating from the heliport.

Jack Nicolson, manager, has a staff of 15, including seven pilots, five engineers and three office staff members.

The two helicopters are both on jobs at the moment, one at Slave Lake, Alta., firefighting, and the other on contract in southern B.C.

A formal opening of the heliport will be held in the fall when all equipment has been installed.

The five-acre site, two and one-half miles south of Okanagan Lake bridge on Highway 97, contains a concrete T-shaped landing pad and a combination hangar and office building. Landscaping has just begun.

The one-storey building contains space for four helicopters, a parts room and offices. The building is of sheet steel, with a front panelling of vertical cedar siding.

Most of the firm's work is mining, placing prospectors in the field, site inspection, moving equipment and supplies. Forestry is another field of operation—fire fighting, general forest inspection for condition and age of timber.

Plans call for increasing the staff to 20 by fall. Although most of the present staff were brought in from other areas, four local pilot Don Roadhouse of Penicton and Manfred Borszcz of Kelowna, engineer Sam Chivers and purchasing agent Manie Wrigley of Kelowna.

Two of the soldiers were taken to hospital, with Mr. Davis suffering the worst reaction. He developed pneumonia and his parents were asked to come to his bedside. They returned home today.

Issues Of Election Campaign Get Varied Forum Comments

By PETE KINSEY
Courier Staff Writer

About 150 people filled the Aquatic Wednesday night to listen and question four Okanagan-Boundary candidates in the June 25 federal election.

The actual discussion part of the forum, sponsored by the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce, took about two hours, from 7:30 p.m.

The evening began at 6 p.m. with a dinner at 6:30 p.m.

No candidate made any statement that could not have been predicted before the evening, however, people could at least hear a candidate's views on various topics.

Each candidate was given ten minutes to state his position, then the evening was opened for questions from the audience, both written and verbal.

The order of speaking was determined by drawing numbers from a hat. Candidate's answers to questions followed in the order they spoke.

Government mismanagement, reflecting on business and people, is plaguing Canada, according to MP David Pugh.

"Anyone who ran a business like the government is running the country would be bankrupt," he said. "A government doesn't go broke, but people do," said the Progressive Conservative candidate.

"All necessities of life are going out of sight for people on fixed incomes," he said. "Bonds, dollars and anything of this nature are losing their value."

"Confidence is being lost in Canada and the government because of the mismanagement," he said. "The Bank of Canada, the Economic Council of Canada and chambers of commerce have all urged the government to slow."

"In spite of these gale warnings, the government goes on its merry way," he said. "The real issue of this election is rotten management, not unity."

Australia is "not technically dumping" peaches in Canada, says Bruce Howard, Liberal candidate.

"I feel the government is now negotiating to clear the problem," he said, "not to get rid of the treaty, but to make sure an area is not exploited."

"They sell much less to us than we sell to them," he said, "and I am assured their peach imports is not technically dumping."

Mr. Howard said national unity is an election issue, particularly "after the tragic news from the U.S."

"Separatism will lead to the break-up of the country," he said. "Mr. Trudeau says the same thing across Canada: we have come to the end of having a divided country."

"In spite of problems," he added, "the country manages to continue and grow more prosperous. Nobody has an instant solution."

"Each person must become actively involved in Canada's political system," said NDP candidate Alex Turner.

"We must have a solid commitment from each person to attack inequalities and injustices in the system, particularly in education and opportunities for young people," he said. "We say our human resource is our greatest resource but we squander this. We must not say can we afford to do something, we must ask: can we afford not to do something?"

"Support the party of your choice," he said, "with donations and time. This is the only way we can make our system of government meaningful."

"In spite of the tragedy in the U.S., within a week, people there will go their complacent ways, because they are unwilling to face problems," he said. "We have problems in this country which we must examine with commitment and involvement."

"We must put a tack under the comfortable seat of government," says Dave Sparrow, Socred candidate.

"The Liberal government just began to move," he said. "If they have ever been pecked by a Sparrow, they will soon move some more."

Mr. Sparrow said he would not work from party politics, but "for good, I believe in good government. I will support good legislation and go against what I consider bad legislation."

"You are told you have problems," he said. "This does not make sense. We know we have problems, but something must be done."

"The only way to effectively negotiate with international corporations is with an international union," he said. "The best way to stop this to have Canadian control of business."

Ken Harding, past president of the Kelowna chamber, was moderator for the forum. The Kelowna forum was believed the only time during the campaign all party hopefuls appeared on the same stage.

"No party can say exactly what to do to solve all three problems," he said, "because each problem is different. Many times the solution creates greater problems."

"I have been told there are ways out of the trade agreement with Australia, but the Liberals have not moved," he said. "The problems have been discussed before there was a problem."

Dr. John Coles, the self-declared independent candidate from Penicton, was not at the forum, although he had given verbal agreement to attend.

All candidates were asked about implementing the Carter Report on taxation.

Mr. Pugh and Mr. Turner agreed the report was actually a sociological concept.

Mr. Pugh suggested a more thorough study of the report must be made before any action can be taken.

Mr. Turner said a bit more study was required, but the report should not be just shelved.

Mr. Howard said some sections of the report are excellent, but everything can't be implemented immediately because the report embraces an entirely new concept of taxation not yet in use anywhere.

Mr. Sparrow said the report's suggestion for a capital gains tax would defeat Canadian investment. He suggested foreign investment should have a capital gains tax, but not Canadian investors.

Speaking on separatism, Mr. Turner said he felt a continued confrontation would lead to a definite split in Canada.

"The British North America Act does give special status for provinces," he said. "I feel it is better to get the agreement of nine of 10 provinces than try to get all 10 to agree when one can then veto the entire proposal."

"Sometimes you have to bring the problem to a head," countered Mr. Howard. "You can't push it under a rug."

Mr. Pugh said there is a damage clause in the Australian trade agreement and "action should have been taken because the fruit industry is being subsidized by the government."

Asked about the danger of international trade unions in connection with foreign investment in Canada, Mr. Turner said U.S. capital is needed, but added when profits go outside the country, "this eats into the economy."

"The only way to effectively negotiate with international corporations is with an international union," he said. "The best way to stop this to have Canadian control of business."

Ken Harding, past president of the Kelowna chamber, was moderator for the forum. The Kelowna forum was believed the only time during the campaign all party hopefuls appeared on the same stage.

Traffic And Liquor Charges Comprise Five Case Docket

Four people pleaded guilty in magistrate's court today and one not guilty plea was entered. John Suschnik, Westbank, was fined $50 after a guilty plea was made through his lawyer, on a charge of driving without due care and attention.

Suschnik was involved in a rear-end collision on Harvey Avenue Sunday at 11:25 p.m. James Stoddart, Kelowna, was fined $50 for being a minor in possession of liquor. The prosecutor said the accused was with a group of noisy youths May 25 at 11:20 p.m. in front of the Willow Inn Hotel. They were said to be holding a foot race on a parking lot.

Virgil Wiebe, Kelowna, pleaded not guilty to driving without due care and attention and the case was remanded to June 17 for trial.

Vernon Shaw, RR 1, Kelowna, pleaded guilty to being a minor driving without insurance and the case was remanded to June 21 for decision. Madeline Houle, RR 4, Kelowna, pleaded guilty to making an improper left turn and was fined $25. She was involved in an accident Monday at Bernard Avenue and Cherry Crescent at 8:15 p.m.

April Showers Off Course They Arrived A Month Late

The most significant fact about the weather in May was the amount of rainfall, 1.38 inches, compared with a five year average of .85 inches. Rainfall in May 1967 measured .45 inches. The total average annual precipitation in Kelowna is 12.2 inches.

Rain fell on 11 days and although the sun shone 18 days, only six of them were clear sunshine, without clouds appearing at some time during the day.

Temperatures were normal for May, with a high of 82 and a low of 33. Figures in 1968 showed 82 and 33 were average for a five-year period. In May, 1967, the high was 80 and the low 31.

In May this year the mean maximum temperature was 68.5, the mean minimum 47.7 and the mean 55.2. Comparative figures for the same month a year ago are 67.7, 43.3 and 55.5.

There were three days in the 80s, nine in the 70s, 17 in the 60s and two in the 50s.

During 12 nights the temperature dropped to the 30s. There were 18 nights in the 40s and one in the 50s.

From May 5 to 19, the weather was clear, with the exception of the evening of May 13 and the morning of the 14th.

A signal light at the Canadian National Railways level crossing on Ellis Street, will go into use at 4 p.m. today.

When a train is in motion in the area, a red flashing signal light on a standard on the right of the roadway will go on, also a bell will ring. When not in use, the light will be off.

Signal lights will be installed on both sides of the crossing, facing north and south.

Area Youths

In Trouble

Two Rutland juveniles, aged 14 and 17, are in custody today after an attempted break-in at the North Corner Store in Rutland Wednesday evening.

In juvenile court Wednesday afternoon, a 15-year-old Kelowna boy was placed on a year's probation after he was convicted of car theft.

Three Kelowna youths were convicted on a charge of stealing a motorcycle. Two 16-year-olds were placed on three months' probation on the charge and a 14-year-old was placed on a year's probation.

A suspected fire caused an alarm at 7:35 p.m. Wednesday at 328 Bernard Ave. The only fire, however, was where it belonged . . . in an incinerator.

STEPS TO ROYALTY

The 1968 candidates for the title of Lady-of-the-Lake got the new crown in posture and poise from former candidate Audrey Gibbons, 19, standing at the foot of the Community Theatre steps. Miss Gibbons was a Lion's Club candidate.

In the Regatta Lady-of-the-Lake contest in 1967, she is currently intruding on this year's crop of young hopefuls in all the social graces needed to acquire the coveted title of Lady-of-the-Lake. Others are from the left: Sue Barclay,

Why Would Anyone Want To Kill Sen. Kennedy?

The attempted assassination of Senator Robert Kennedy in Los Angeles on Tuesday evening shocked the world. It was a senseless, cruel thing without any apparent logical motive. Why? What kind of a world do we live in? These were the two predominant reactions on Wednesday and, in effect, each meant the same as the other.

Why is this apparently an age of violence all over the world? Riots, arson, assassinations, wars; these seem to be the norm. Students destroy their own universities and other properties; American Negroes burn down the ghettos in which they live; daily reports of armed robbery often involving cold-blooded murder. And now a man cannot walk the streets of an American city in safety.

Why Robert Kennedy? He was an ambitious man, spawned of an ambitious family. The assassination of his brother, as president, might be understood, but Robert Kennedy was, at the moment, nobody. What purpose could be served by his assassination? He was not as yet even a presidential candidate; he was only aspiring to become a candidate. What purpose could possibly be furthered by his death?

Could it be that some group desiring to stir violence in the United States seeks to do so by assassinations? J. F. Kennedy, Dr. Luther King, Senator Robert Kennedy. Are these all isolated incidents or is there a common thread running from one to the other. If so, who is next on the list?

The United States, it would appear must be doing some soul-searching about itself. What is wrong with the society of the greatest country in the world? Obviously there is something. But what?

Certain members of the United States Congress doubtless are today wondering if their action in delaying the passage of the antigan law was best in their nation's welfare. A law prohibiting unlicensed guns would probably not stop an assassin but it would make it a little more difficult for him to secure the weapon and would assist the police in their work. But the U.S. Congress has never put any restrictions on firearms. Maybe now those opposed will have second thoughts.

It has been said that the arrested accused man gave no indication of being under the influence of drugs. And yet this was no hidden gunman. He made his move in a room while he was surrounded by many other people. To escape under the circumstances would have been difficult. Yet he made his move. Not being hopped-up with drugs, he must have been driven either by an intense hatred for Mr. Kennedy or a flaming enthusiasm for some as yet unknown cause. Mentally unbalanced, certainly, but still motivated by hatred or fanaticism.

In this age of useless acts, the assassination of Senator Kennedy must be placed among the most useless. There is apparently no rhyme or reason. Perhaps subsequent investigation will unearth the motive. Perhaps the police may persuade the suspect to talk. They might, that is, if he, unlike the suspect in the J. F. Kennedy case, is permitted to live to talk.

IT HAPPENED IN CANADA

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

POLITICS 1968

It is noted with mixed feelings that the new look in federal politics is obviously becoming more and more like a theatrical production.

On the one hand we have Mr. Stansfield playing the part of a staunch, somewhat staid, councillor holding out a thoughtful policy of restraint.

On the other, we have the gossamer touch of a young enthusiastic matinee idol. Mr. Pierre Trudeau. Flying out of the azure blue sky he is greeted by a gay and lively crowd. A crowd bedecked in summer finery and including in its members a fair sprinkling of pretty young girls. Smiling roughly and planting enthusiastically on these young lips a well-rehearsed kiss, we have the Prime Minister of Canada.

I look forward with curiosity to our future parliamentary assembly. The chamber will have to be floodlit and the disposition of its benches somewhat changed.

A revolving stage, with scenery, will no doubt be provided. From the wings to a well-chosen musical extravaganza, will enter the leading players. Each party will have its own theme song and probably a well-trained chorus of young dancers will open the session.

The stage should certainly be a revolving one. This will enable the members to change their policies more easily. Musical music will ease the strains of announcements that sager international conflicts. Gay little ditties will be the order of the day when increases in pensions and social allowances are announced. Perhaps some of the older ballads will come to the fore again. Three Coins in the Fountain or Pennies From Heaven may be favored by our minister of finance. Little Grey Home in the West will herald acts affecting our building trades, and who knows, perhaps Mr. Trudeau will select Kiss Me Kate as his particular background music. Mr. Douglas, too, is doing his small part; from a recent political meeting he is pictured fading dreamily into the distant reaches of the river in a canoe.

One may not believe the glib promises and easy solutions to our real, or imagined, problems that the Liberals are issuing so freely. However, we cannot rob them of full credit for so effectively continuing the destruction of the parliamentary image. Gone is our impression of an assembly of thinking men and women. A Parliament to deal with weighty and involved economic and social problems.

We are being led closer to a day when theatrical exaggerations will sway the vote and majorities will rest upon the whims of a well-selected chorus instead of the duller statistics produced by the Dominion Bureau in Ottawa.

Perhaps the suggestion made recently that sessions of Parliament should be televised will in the future prove more and more acceptable. The live theatre and movie house will then, no doubt, have a serious rival in its patronage.

I am, dear sir,
Yours very truly,
T. P. HARVEY

San Francisco To Quake Again

SAN FRANCISCO (Reuters).—Earthquake experts are exhorting the people of San Francisco to fix safety belts to their bathtubs, but the population remains stoically unperturbed.

"Yes, I expect it, but I've learned to live with it," the typical San Franciscan will say when faced with predictions of a shattering new ground upheaval.

Small tremors that do little or no damage are measured routinely by seismologists; and brushed aside by all but the most nervous housewife. It took a moderately strong quake 11 years ago to create even a trace of hysteria.

Geologists are convinced, however, that a major earthquake of the size that struck the city in 1906 and claimed 700 lives is due anytime—today, tomorrow, in a generation, perhaps 50 years.

It will definitely come, they warn.

The periodic warning tremors come from the mammoth San Andreas fault, a split 600 miles long and 20 miles wide in the earth's crust.

The fault, plainly visible from the air, skirts San Francisco.

Dear Dr. Molner: I constantly have a black speck floating around in my eye. What would this indicate? What can be done for it?—M.K.

It means that you are like most of the rest of us. These specks, or "vitreous floaters," are extremely common as we reach mature years, and there is nothing to be done about them except to stop worrying.

Dear Dr. Molner: A few years ago I prepared upon my wife to use a meat tenderizer on our steaks. The steaks now are always tender, but recently some of my wife's lady friends told her that meat tenderizers are harmful and injurious to the stomach. I don't believe this hogwash but she doesn't want to use the tenderizer any more.

First, tenderizers can't harm the stomach. Second, they never get there anyway, because the heat of cooking destroys any remaining tenderizer.

BIBLE BRIEF

"If we say that we have not sinned, we make him a liar, and his word is not in us."—1 John 1:10.

If we refuse to see ourselves as sinners, we place ourselves behind the rest of the Saviour. "He came not to call the righteous but sinners to repentance."

OUR ECONOMY

Ottawa Finds Money Source

By WARREN BALDWIN

OTTAWA—It is just about a year ago that the Canadian government learned that money didn't grow on trees. To most of us that is a truism but the position of government was different.

In the first place there is the taxpayer's pocket. That holds an increasing store of dollars that can be collected in taxes, particularly in postwar years of rapidly rising incomes. Even after paying higher taxes the average Canadian had enough to buy life insurance or some other form of savings.

This gave government its second line resources. If expenditures were too high to be met from taxation it could always borrow these savings at reasonable cost in interest. Government bonds were and still are the safest form of investment in terms of ultimate return of the money.

TAXPAYERS AND SPENDERS Another thing governments of all colors were learning. The people who were hardest hit by tax increases had fewer votes than those who benefited by high expenditures. And no one was concerned over how much government borrowed. It came to be regarded as political folly to cut expenditures when spending only meant adding to the public debt.

Then last summer came the rude awakening. At the beginning of June Finance Minister Sharp said that while he was going to need to borrow a large amount of cash—$1.5 billion—he felt this could easily be done through the increased savings of Canadians. This did not turn out to be true. In competition with other borrowers the government has not been doing well.

At first the Bank of Canada increased the amount of money available to chartered banks to buy government bonds but finally the Bank called a halt. The government was still able to look hopefully to the coming issue of Canada Savings Bonds for new money. This has been a satisfactory if costly way of draining off the savings of the small man who otherwise does not invest in bonds. The November issue last year if held to its maturity in 1980, will average nearly 5½ per cent a year in interest and the bonds for the first time were open to any purchaser up to a limit of $50,000.

It is too early yet to know how much new money the government obtained through the 1967 series and how much of the total sale was a turn-over of old bonds for new which merely means that more money is being paid out in interest. It is known that the addition to the government's bank balance was not as much as had been hoped.

The next move this spring was to offer new bonds at a higher rate to holders of the 1959 CSB issue which would have to be redeemed for cash in any event in November. Holders of the old bonds were getting nearly five per cent interest a year. Average interest on the new bonds if they are held to 1978 will be nearly seven per cent which is typical of the amount the government has to pay for borrowing and before next April it will need to borrow more than $1 billion.

Even at that interest rate only about $500 million of the $710 million of the 1959 bonds outstanding were turned over. The balance of about $200 million was sold to anyone. Again no one knows how much hard cash the government obtained but it is known that if it had all been cash sales it would have done no better than equal the amount paid out to redeem bonds. On March 31 Canada Savings Bonds outstanding totaled $6,996 million. On May 15 when replacement of the 1959 issue had been completed there were $5,924 million. In been turning in their bonds at a rate of about $30 million a week.

But if Canadians are cashing their government bonds others are buying them. In the last few weeks Canada has sold bonds to Germans, Italians and Americans in all about $200 million, costing only a little more interest than Canada Savings Bonds.

American law for protection of investors is very strict but those who are selling the bonds in the United States go even further in wanting every detail of Canada's financial position and apparently Canadians were able to satisfy them. When the long session of questioning in New York was over a Canadian official remarked: "Well this just proves that we should get our money at home."

"On the contrary," one of the underwriters remarked, "it just proves that you should sell your bonds down here more often."

CANADA'S STORY

Wallace S. Turnbull An Aviation Pioneer

By BOB BOWMAN

In the 19th century Canada's Maritime provinces were famous around the world for their "wooden ships and iron men." Some of the fastest sailing ships came from the yards of the Atlantic provinces, a tradition that extended into the present century when the "Bluenose" out-sailed every other ship in her class.

In the 20th century, the maritimes have led much of the world in another field: aviation. In 1909 the Aerial Experimental Association, headed by Alexander Graham Bell, produced the first airplane in the British Commonwealth, and one of the first in the world, at Baddeck, N.S. One of Bell's contributions, still important today, was the development of variable wing-tips, or "ailerons."

Another Maritime pioneer in aviation was Wallace S. Turnbull, of Roberval, New Brunswick. As early as 1902, he made the first North American tests of aeroflats and wing angles, by building a wind tunnel in a barn near his home. This was a year before the Wright brothers flew their first plane.

Turnbull played a great part in the development of aviation because he realized that the lack of stability in the early planes was due to their straight-bladed wings. He advocated the upward inclination of wings from the centre sections of their tips. His research had a strong influence on later designs.

On June 6, 1927, Turnbull helped aviation take another long step forward by demonstrating the world's first variable pitch propeller. He had been working on the idea since 1916, but was interrupted by World War I when he went to Britain to help design screens to protect warships from torpedoes.

The variable pitch propeller was successfully demonstrated at Camp Borden, when Flight Lieutenant G. G. Brookes of the Royal Canadian Air Force flew an Avro biplane equipped with Turnbull's invention. It greatly increased efficiency during take-offs and flight.

OTHER EVENTS ON JUNE 6: 1543—Roberval left Stadacona (Quebec) to explore Saguenay River.

1780—Seven thousand settlers from Connecticut landed at Port Williams, N.S.

1813—HMS "Shannon" towed U.S. "Chesapeake" into Halifax harbor after epic battle off Boston.

1813—Americans defeated at Stoney Creek, near St. Catharines, Ont.

1821—Conventione held for Montreal General Hospital.

1854—Steamer "Surprise" sailed up Fraser River as far as Ilope.

Youngsters Speak

The following compositions were turned into teachers by pupils at the Bankhead Elementary school Wednesday morning following the shooting of Senator Kennedy in the United States. These youngsters, who average 12 years of age, were not prompted to write these short compositions they did it on their own. The Daily Courier feels that these short compositions reflect the concern of today's youth to general world conditions and are worth publishing.

By COLLEEN OLYCHUCK
"Our world."
"Yes, our world."
"What can we do to help our world?"

War is breaking this world. Hatred is dashing it. But what can we do? Crime is all around us. Great leaders have sacrificed their lives for this world. Leaders like President Kennedy shot in 1963, Dr. Martin Luther King assassinated a month ago and Robert Kennedy shot early Wednesday morning. He was shot in the head. He is still alive (Wednesday) but is in serious condition.

What is happening to this world? Countries are fighting with one another. Countries are fighting between themselves. We must try to find the answer.

By SUSAN LOFTS
Today, June 5, 1968, we are told of another tragic shooting. Robert Kennedy was shot early this morning after a victory in the primaries in California. He suffered severe brain damage after a bullet penetrated his brain. He also had a superficial wound. He is now in hospital in extremely critical condition. The gunman was captured after firing eight shots. Five other people were wounded.

Why do we have all this senseless killing? Is it because Robert Kennedy is trying to help the Negroes? The Negroes are people just like us. Just because their skin is a different color, is that any reason for all this violence? What this world needs is unity. We must stop these wars. Wars don't help to settle anything. We must stop arguing among ourselves. If everybody would stop and think a little about these things and try to stop them, I am sure this world would be a much better place in which to live.

By BEVERLY KELLY
Of all the years I've lived there's nothing but disaster in the world. Killing the Negroes and now trying to kill Robert Kennedy.

It's not the Indians or any other nationality that destroys the world, but white men.

June 5 at 12:20 a.m., Robert was in the lobby when eight shots were fired. One in his neck and the other in the head. Others with him were attacked also.

Soon after they found out it was a white man who aimed at him. Could the reason be because Kennedy is trying to help the Negroes?

The leader of the Negroes, Martin Luther King, died May 4 for the same reason. In some places men are even trained to stop riots.

People think this world is a place of hatred and jealousy. That is right. Men who fought for peace will never regret it.

By MAUREEN KLONTEIG
Our world seems to spell nothing but disaster. Almost every day we hear about some disastrous thing happening to some person or persons.

On June 5 about 12:20 a.m. Robert Kennedy was shot once in the head and once in the neck.

One bullet went right through a bone in his right ear. It entered the mid-brain and lodged there.

Senator Kennedy has 10 children and they are expecting their 11th, so it would and probably will be, very sad for them and Mrs. Kennedy.

Senator Kennedy was making a speech. After it was over he went into the lobby and it was then that the shots were fired.

The man had fired all eight shots from the .22 calibre pistol.

Just think, how would you feel about it if you were in the United States, with all the rioting?

By TOM ANDERSON
Why? That's the question millions upon millions of people are asking.

Why would they want to take the life of some of the world's greatest men? Abraham Lincoln, President Kennedy, Martin Luther King and an attempt on Bobby last night.

It makes me sick. Was it something they must do to make themselves known in the world, or a way of life? This all shines back on the question why? These are things I'm scared to think about. But it happened like one big nightmare of bloodshed.

I'm sure that nearly everyone in the world would give anything for these men to live again.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH Mother Depressed At This Birth

By DR. JOSEPH G. MOLNER

Dear Dr. Molner: A friend of mine has just had a mongoloid baby. She is very young and also has a year-old healthy child.

Of course she is depressed and wants to put the child away and visit weekends. Her doctor is against this because the baby, he says, is a borderline mongoloid and is better off at home.

She feels the child will learn more in an institution with others like him. Please give us your opinion.—C.B.

Why doesn't your friend speak for herself?

However, I will put a few thoughts on the table.

Mongolism, like other forms of retardation, is a matter of degree, and this is extremely important in deciding what is best for the child and best for everyone else concerned.

Mongoloid children are affectionate, tend to be of a happy nature, and, having been born into this world, are entitled to such happiness as we can provide.

Except for those severely retarded, the mongoloids are capable of learning. They do not learn as quickly as a normal child, of course, but some learn to read and write, to do manual work, often very efficiently, can take care of themselves within the limits of their understanding.

I grant readily enough that the severely retarded mongoloid is better off in an institution, both for his own sake and for the sake of the family and other children as there are in the household.

Few parents have the financial resources or the physical, moral and intellectual stamina to care for a severely retarded

Wanted—A New Premier Following Italian Crisis

Premier Aldo Moro resigned Wednesday as head of Italy's 27th post-war government, lumping a political crisis atop a wave of student unrest. Moro's centre-left coalition broke down last week. The Socialist partners voted to pull out on the grounds that their ties with Moro's Christian Democrats accounted for Socialist setbacks in last month's elections for a new parliament. The Christian Democrats made gains. The government crisis is expected to be eased but not resolved by formation of a minority Christian Democrat cabinet. Following the resignation, President Giuseppe Saragat asked Moro and his cabinet to stay on for administrative work while the president looks for a new premier.

Billy Bishop's medals, First World War uniform and a bullet-pierced windscreen from his fighter plane were presented to the nation Monday in Ottawa.

The Bishop family gave them to the National War Museum in Ottawa. Arthur Bishop, son of the Canadian air ace who died in 1956, said the family decided the medals and other mementoes belonged to the country, not to the family. Between March 1917 and August, 1918, the late Billy Bishop shot down 72 planes, largest number for any Allied flier in the war. Among the awards he received were the Victoria Cross, Chevalier of the Legion of Honor and the Croix de Guerre with Palms.

Brewery owner Ben Ginter is sitting with a stack of 30,000 dimes. They were to be popped into cases of his beer. Mr. Ginter had to postpone the operation after receiving word in Prince George Wednesday from Attorney-General Leslie Peterson that the plan is against Liquor Control Board policy. Mr. Ginter planned to enclose a 10-cent refund in each case to counteract a 10-cent increase in the price of canned beer announced by the provincial government last month. "What I may have to do is give a 10-cent refund on return of the cans," Mr. Ginter said. "Maybe it will help not to litter highways."

Premier W. A. C. Bennett will head a list of speakers at a two-day industrial development seminar in Prince George June 24 and 25. Shocked LBJ Makes Appeal For End Of Violence In U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, shocked and dismayed at the shooting of Senator Robert Kennedy, announced the appointment Wednesday of a 10-member commission to examine what he called this "tragic phenomenon" of violence and assassination in the U.S.

The president told a television-radio audience in an 11-minute address that violence, murder and assassination must stop.

"My fellow citizens, we cannot, we must not, tolerate the sway of violent men among us," he said.

"We must not permit men who are filled with hatred, and careless of innocent lives, to dominate our streets and fill our homes with fear."

"I hope and pray that we can learn how to stop it."

He called on the commission to seek the help of medical and social scientists in searching for root causes of violence. The panel also will study further steps to prevent assassination and how better to protect public figures.

Commission members include Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, former president of Johns Hopkins University and brother of former president Dwight D. Eisenhower; Roman Catholic Archbishop Terence J. Cooke of New York; and veteran Congress members.

No chairman was named immediately.

PRAISES KENNEDY

The president deplored the Kennedy shooting and praised the senator's "brilliant career of public service," his "uncommon energy and dedication."

"We pray to God that He will spare Robert Kennedy and will restore him to full health and vigor..."

"The Kennedy family has endured sorrow enough, and we pray that this family may be spared more anguish."

Johnson said there was a connection between hatred and lawlessness and the individual act of violence against Kennedy. But it would be wrong to conclude "that our country is sick, that it has lost its sense of balance, its sense of direction and common decency."

He said "200,000,000 Americans did not strike Robert Kennedy... any more than they struck John F. Kennedy in 1963 or Martin Luther King in April of this year."

But "those awful events give us ample warning that in a climate of extremism, of disrespect for law, of contempt for the rights of others, violence may bring down the very best among us."

He argued that a country that tolerates any form of violence "cannot expect to be able to confine it to just minor outbursts." Johnson called on Congress to "pass laws to bring the insane traffic in guns to a halt."

Pink And White Color Theme For Pretty Rutland Wedding

St. Theresa's Catholic Church in Rutland was decorated with pink and white spring flowers to carry out the color scheme of the pretty wedding of Linda Mary Koch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Koch of Rutland to Barry Hugh Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh MacGregor Clark of Kelowna.

Rev. Father Flynn officiated at the ceremony which took place May 18 at 2:30 and Mrs. Lucille Gaudet of Rutland provided the organ music.

The lovely bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a full length gown of peau d' elegance fashioned on Empire lines. The high bodice and elbow length sleeves featured French lace and a graceful long train of matching lace with scalloped edges swept gracefully from the back waistline. White chiffon roses held her shoulder length veil of white tulle in place and she carried a cascading bouquet of pink roses.

Miss Kathy Koch, was her sister's maid of honor, and Miss Kathleen Wingerbach of Mendham, Sask., and Miss Katherine Carson of Vancouver, both cousins of the bride, were her bridesmaids. They wore floor length sleeveless dresses of pink chiffon and lace styled on empire lines; their headresses were pink velvet bows, and they wore necklaces of two cultured pearls in a cage, which were gifts from the bride. They carried cascading bouquets of white carnations tinted pink.

Miss Eileen Bonogofsky, small cousin of the bride from Tramping Lake, Sask. who was the attractive flower girl wore a pink floor length dress styled similarly to the bride's and she carried a white basket filled with white sweetheart roses. Centering the lace tablecloth on the bride's table was a lovely three tiered wedding cake, baked by the bride's mother and grandmother.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Koch chose a dress of aqua colored peau d' elegance with a matching coat, a white hat, white accessories, and a corsage of white roses. The groom's mother, who assisted her in receiving the guests, chose a pink ensemble complemented with a white hat, white accessories and a corsage of white roses.

ANN LANDERS

It Must Be Emotional If Its Not Organic

Dear Ann Landers: May I respond to "Single And Glad Of It." She wrote as follows: "Show me a man, either single or married, sick, well or dying, who would turn down sex and I will happily eat the Sunday edition of the New York Times."

I would like to say, "Start nibbling, dear heart." I married a man who has the sex drive of a dead battery. My sisters drew the same kind.

You suggest that these "disinterested" males go to a doctor and find out what is wrong. A fine suggestion, but what if they won't go? Furthermore I am 99 per cent certain that the problem is not physical but mental. My "dead battery" is healthy as a horse. I can't recall the last time he had a headache.

What about this, Ann Landers: Am I right or wrong? BAH! IT'S COLD IN THE HOUSE

Dear Baby: You are probably right. The vast majority of "disinterested" men have no organic problem. But it's always advisable to go to a physician and make sure.

When no organic problem is present, a husband should accept the fact that he has an emotional problem. He owes it to his wife as well as to himself to see a therapist and get rid of the hornet in his helmet.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a teenage girl with a problem as big as the world.

Wave Of Montreal Killings 'Not Work Of Single Gang'

MONTREAL (CP) — The city's chief of detectives said this week a recent wave of gangland-type killings in Montreal could be attributed to several different sets of motives.

Interesting Fight Shaping Up For Burnaby-Seymour Vote

BURNABY, B.C. (CP) — The Electoral Boundaries Commission in 1965 set the stage for the June 23 election fight in Burnaby-Seymour, a Liberal challenge to New Democratic Party leader T. C. Douglas.

Under redistribution, the seat has a strong base for Mr. Douglas on home ground and a large chunk of Liberal country, familiar territory to his chief opponent, Ray Perrault, former B.C. Liberal leader.

With three weeks to election day, the NDP was looking for at least half the vote. The Liberal party, with a force of more than 1,000 campaign workers, said a Liberal trend appeared to be building.

Conservative Charles Maclean, 34, lawyer and former intelligence officer, and Social Creditor Ronald Price, 23, are given low chances and the NDP hoped they would split anti-NDP votes.

WORKERS PREPARED
Conservative workers were "prepared for that possibility," Mr. Perrault maintained. The picture isn't that simple. He said Prime Minister Trudeau's leadership would "establish new patterns in voting."

The seat, an irregular suburban block running north and south, is made up of parts of Burnaby-Coquitlam, Mr. Douglas' old seat; Burnaby-Richmond and north across Burrard inlet, Coast-Capilano.

Burnaby-Coquitlam had been a safe NDP seat since formed in 1953. Burnaby-Richmond and Coast Capilano lost Liberal MPs in the Conservative sweep of 1958. The former went NDP in 1962 and the latter Liberal.

Burnaby-Seymour is a bedroom area for Vancouver and its population of young families and white-collar workers has risen steadily.

MORE VOTERS
It has 50,152 eligible voters, about 7,000 more than the corresponding area in 1965. Mr. Douglas polled 22,553 votes in 1965, better than 10,000 more than the second-placed Liberal.

As well as retaining a comfortable base, the NDP has been organizing in the riding since redistribution. Mr. Maclean concedes: "The NDP has got brilliant organization in there."

Liberal party calculations, transferring 1965 voting to the new boundaries, showed the NDP with 47.14 per cent, Liberals 31, Social Credit 13.53 and Conservatives 8.07.

The NDP will try to make inroads in the Seymour area, a some of the 12 killings in the last three months "are related, but no one person or gang is responsible for all of them."

He said that rivalry between two protection racket gangs, internal warfare in a gang of bank robbers, vengeance, and a vendetta apparently imported from Europe may account for 11 of the 12 slayings.

One slaying, the murder of a parking lot attendant in downtown Montreal March 20, remained a mystery.

Director Olivier said four street killings in April and May were apparently caused by friction between "protection gangs" preying on clubs, of every category in the east and north ends of the city.

He speculated that internal warfare in a ring of bank robbers led to the shootings April 2 of Eric McNally, 28, and of his girl friend, Susan Clarke, 27.

Garry Snor, 27, of Bedford, Ohio, who was closely related to the McNally gang, was later dumped in a ditch 45 miles west of Montreal, director Olivier said. His decomposed body was found 10 days ago.

Raymond Bonenfant, 28, and Michel Marleau, 22, were both found dead Feb. 23, the first in a stolen car in west-end railway yards and the second in St. Hyacinthe, 30 miles northeast of here.

Both were apparently targets of vengeance by a gang that had two members wounded by gunfire 10 days earlier, the chief of detectives said.

Two fatal shootings last weekend and several recent near-fatal shootings, all in the Italian community in the northeast section of Montreal, were tentatively described as a vendetta which could have originated in Europe.

Francesco Grado, 38, a building contractor, was found shot near his car in suburban St. Leonard last Saturday and the body of 20-year-old Pino Colizza was found early Monday in the same area.

Director Olivier said he had little hope that the slayings would ever be solved "before the courts."

He added that there was cause for alarm that a major crime wave was under way, masterminded by one person or group.

Save The Children Fund In B.C. Shows An Increase Of Income

The forty-eighth annual meeting of the B.C. branch of the Save the Children Fund, held at St. John's Anglican Church, Vancouver, was told that the net income of the branch for the year 1967 amounted to $131,597—an increase of $3,500 over the previous year. The administrative cost had been kept under eight per cent which means that more than 92 cents out of every dollar collected goes in direct aid to the 130,000 children the Fund cares for daily in 28 countries.

Sixty dollars a year is all it costs to sponsor a child ($120 for a family) through the Save the Children Fund, and the number of sponsorships had increased during the year: 764 individual children, 73 families, 22 schools and homes are now being helped by B.C. supporters. The number of European children is showing a decrease while there is a marked increase in the number of Korean and African children being helped.

Branch president, B. M. Hoffmeister, outlined the special B.C. project: The Peter Spohn Clinic in Korea has been moved to the second floor of the Pusan Central Clinic, thus enabling the staff to care for a much greater number of babies and children. The existing clinic in Kamchon, which was built in memory of Dr. Peter Spohn, will be used as a day nursery and feeding centre and will also provide a well-baby clinic for the many thousands of poor people who live there. The annual cost of operating the Peter Spohn Clinic is around $16,500 and the Kamchon Day Care Centre will cost $3,500 to run.

Another major new project for the branch will be the care of some 108 homeless, orphaned Tibetan children. The cost will be approximately $17,500 per year for three years after which period it is expected that the Indian government will be able to take over the responsibility for the youngsters.

CONTINUE PROJECT
VERNON, B.C. (CP) — Work is under way on the second phase of a three-year $6,600,000 irrigation modernization project in this Okanagan valley area. It will replace the existing system of canals and ditches with 90 miles of underground pipeline and five pumping stations capable of irrigating 9,600 acres of fruit-producing land.

Five stars for Seagram's Special Old.

A whisky this good deserves top rating. So we've added a big gold star and five small ones on the label. Easy to spot on the new square bottle.

But inside the bottle is the same easy-tasting whisky that's been a favourite for years here in B.C.

If you want to find out why, that's easy too.

Opening lead—ten of clubs.

The trump echo is a play available to the defense whereby one defender can indicate to the other whether or not he started with three trumps.

There are times when this precise information is all that is needed to defeat a contract, and today's hand illustrates a successful use of the convention.

West leads a club and East can easily identify the lead as a singleton. He wins with the ace and returns the deuce, his lowest club, to tell West to return the lowest suit, diamonds.

West ruffs with the four of trumps and shifts to his fourth best diamond. Declarer wins East's queen with the ace and leads the king of trumps, West following with the deuce as East wins with the ace.

If there were no such convention as the trump echo, East might now make the mistake of trying to cash the setting trick with the king of diamonds. It would be difficult for him to guess that West had five diamonds and South only the singleton ace.

But thanks to the trump echo, East knows that West has another trump and can therefore ruff another club. Accordingly, he returns a club and South goes down one.

There are both positive and negative inferences associated with the use of the trump echo. Thus, in the present case, East can tell positively from West's ruff with the four, followed by his later play of the deuce, that West has another trump. The high-low play in trumps designates three of them.

By the same token, if West had only the 4-2 of trumps, he would ruff the club return at trick two with the deuce. When he later played the four, East would draw the negative inference that his partner had only two trumps to start with, and he would therefore try to cash the king of diamonds as his sole hope of beating the contract.

HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW

You may find yourself up against some confusing situations on Friday. A happy event or some pleasant personal contacts could inspire optimism which, on the other hand, could be deflated by some disappointment in the carrying out of plans. Take all in stride, however. All should be righted within 24 hours.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that, while you may not have much financial progress during the next six months, you WILL, if you can put aside your innate love of the "good life" for a time and stress the practical side of your nature, make fine advances along monetary lines, beginning with January 1.

A child born on this day will be unusually dependable and courageous in the face of difficulty; would make an excellent educator or lawyer.

A BOOST FOR BASEBALL

In their season of rejuvenation, Kelowna Labs of the Okanagan Mainline Baseball League have not enjoyed a tremendous amount of success on the playing field. But they got a tremendous boost from their sponsors Wednesday in the form of a sponsorship cheque. Presenting the cheque was Labatts' representative Rick Hamelin, right. Player representative Jack Burton accepted on behalf of the team. Labs return to action today when they host Vernon at Elks Stadium. Game time is 8 p.m. (Courier photo)

ROYALS KEEP PACE

Rovers Cling To First Spot

Royal Anne Royals kept pace and double. Rod Bennett hit two singles. The Royals kept pace Wednesday but failed to gain any ground in the ever-tightening Senior B Softball League standings. While the Royals were pounding Kelowna Carlings 9-2 at King's Stadium, the Rovers squeaked by Vernon 1-0 at Rutland. Ken Hehn allowed just two hits and slammed out the only extra-base hit, a double, in leading the Rovers to their fifth straight victory. The Rovers have not lost since May 23 when the Carls defeated them 1-0. Ken Oddleifson was the losing pitcher, giving up just five hits but getting pitiful support from his teammates. Rutland scored its only run in the first inning. Don Schneider led off with a walk, advanced to second on an infield out by Lorne White, then scored on a single by Mick Kroshinsky. The Royals jumped on the Carls for four runs in the first inning in their game. They sent eight batters to the plate but got only two hits, taking advantage of poor fielding by the losers. The top half of the Royals' batting order came through in fine fashion, delivering nine of the 12 hits and scoring six of the runs. Norbert Kortals was the big gun, belting out three singles. Wayne Horning had two doubles and Ed Sehn a triple

Pepitone Leads Yankee Victory

By HAL BOCK Associated Press Sports Writer

It was a grand evening for Joe Pepitone and Dave Johnson, but not for Buddy Bradford.

Pepitone drove in six runs—four of them with a grand slam home—leading New York Yankees to a 7-2 romp over Minnesota Twins Wednesday night.

Johnson also hit a grand slam as Baltimore Orioles belted California Angels 7-1.

But Bradford—the first victim of Eddie Stanky's campaign to wake up his Chicago White Sox—was $5 poorer.

The Sox bowed 1-0 to Cleveland Indians and Bradford was the only player to violate Stanky's new Golden Rules.

In other American League action Wednesday, Detroit Tigers nipped Boston Red Sox 5-4 and Washington Senators clipped Oakland Athletics 3-1.

COAST AFTER HOMER

Pepitone unloaded a gainst Dean Chance in the first inning and the Yankees coasted after that. Horace Clarke led off with a single and Roy White and Mickey Mantle walked before Pepitone connected.

In the fifth inning, after the Twins had cut the lead in half on consecutive homers by Harmon Killebrew and Tony Oliva, White and Mantle walked, set-ling up Pepitone again. This time Joe hit a triple.

Mel Stottlemyre (7-4) had a five-hitter.

A single by Brooks Robinson and two walks loaded the bases for Baltimore against California's Clyde Wright in the fifth inning, and Johnson sliced a 315-foot homer.

Curt Motton had homered earlier for the Orioles and Jim Hardin coasted with a five-hitter for his seventh victory.

FAILS TO SCORE

Bradford failed to score a runner from third base with less than two out—one of three sins Stanky has decided will cost White Sox players $5 for every violation. The others are failure to advance a runner who reached second with less than two out and failure to advance a runner in a bunt situation.

The ground rules were installed after Chicago had dropped 9-2 and 2-1 decisions to the Indians. The improvement was not immediately noticeable.

Stan Williams was in almost absolute control until the eighth so Stanky didn't have much chance to put his system to work.

Duane Josephson opened with a pinch double and Russ Snyder advanced him on a fly ball. But Bradford bounced out, invoking the fine, and Sandy Alomar struck out, ending the inning.

LITTLE LEAGUE

Bill Gerk pitched and batted Kinsmen to a 14-3 victory over Black Knight Monday in Little League baseball action at Lions' Park.

Gerk went the distance for the win as well as sending Wynchowski to defeat by slapping out two hits.

At Robertson Park Monday, Monties Sports romped to a 17-5 victory over Legion. Garry Chute was the winning pitcher. He got late relief from Darrel Fox who threw no-hit ball for the final three innings.

Greg Weddell was the losing pitcher. In addition to his fine pitching, Fox hit a homer for the winners.

Bruce Paige overwhelmed Black Knight 27-2 in a game played at Robertson Park Saturday. Greg Champness was the winning pitcher while Wircowski was the loser.

Joe Lange and Greg Oliver both hit grand-slam homers to pace the winners. Also coming through with some timely blows was Doug Israelson.

Monties Sports rolled up the highest Little League score of the year last week as they downed Legion 33-12 at Lions' Park.

Terry Wilkinson was the winning pitcher. Eugene Weninger had a triple and three singles for the winners. Darrel Fox four singles, and Wilkinson a double and two singles.

Midvalley showed a late surge of power last week to beat Bridge Service 7-6 at Lions' Park. Cal Cooper powered the rally with a home-run. He also had two singles.

Darrel Laboucan was the winning pitcher while Jack Kroshinsky was the loser. Both pitchers looked up in an early duel which saw both teams go scoreless for the first two innings.

Robie Napier allowed just one hit in pitching Kinsmen to a 5-1 victory over Bruce Paige last week. Kevin Wolfe gave Napier all the support he needed with three in four times at bat.

Whitchose was the losing pitcher. Bruce Paige defeated Legion 23-13 last week at Little League Park. Greg Oliver was the winning pitcher while Garry Grant took the loss.

Old Play Embarrasses Cards But Houston Drops Decision

By MIKE RECHT Associated Press Writer

Houston Astros and the Cardinals were deadlocked 1-1 in the seventh inning Wednesday night when Julian Javier of St. Louis was tagged out at second base in the old hidden ball trick.

But the Cardinals wiped the egg off their faces and unloaded consecutive hits by Curt Flood, Roger Maris and Orlando Cepeda in the eighth for a run that sent them to a 3-1 victory—their eighth straight.

Pittsburgh Pirates never had that chance to make amends as Los Angeles Dodgers scored in the last of the 10th inning for a 2-1 victory when Maury Wills and Jerry May let in the winning run with errors on the same play.

Gary Nolan, troubled by a sore arm most of the season, stopped Atlanta Braves on three hits in pitching Cincinnati Reds to a 10-0 rout.

In afternoon games in the National League, Tom Seaver and New York Mets halted Chicago Cubs 4-2 and Woody Fryman hurled Philadelphia Phillies by San Francisco Giants 2-1 with a six-hitter.

SET THE TRAP

Houston's moment for joy came after Javier singled and reached second base as St. Louis pitcher Larry Jaster bunted and was thrown out by losing hurler Larry Dierker with second baseman Julio Gotay covering first base.

Gotay kept the ball and walked back to second base and first baseman Rusty Staub went in to chat with Dierker. Javier stepped off the bag and Gotay got him off second.

But the first-place Cardinals saddled the Astros with a fifth consecutive loss on Cepeda's hit and run-scoring double by Lou Brock in the ninth.

Jaster (4-2) allowed only six hits and the run off him was only the second he has surrendered in 33 1-3 innings this season.

A YOUNG LAWYER'S HABIT

RFK's Aim Higher And Higher

WASHINGTON (AP) — No matter how far or how high Robert F. Kennedy has climbed, he has always seemed driven to go even farther and higher, to do it better.

It was that way in his recreation—the mountain climbing in Canada, football, shooting rapids, skiing. It was that way when he was a young lawyer with a Senate committee, when he ran his brother John's presidential campaign, when he was attorney-general, when he ran and was elected senator. And it was especially that way in his current presidential campaign.

"I run to seek new policies," he said March 16 in announcing his candidacy.

"At stake is not simply the leadership of our party or even our country—it is our right to moral leadership on this planet. I cannot stand aside from the contest."

And he plunged into the campaign with typical Kennedy zest and typical Kennedy disregard for danger.

ENDURED MAULING
A reserved, essentially shy man, Kennedy endured the mauling, pulling and tugging from adoring crowds.

There is little protection for any man in such large throngs. Robert Kennedy knew this more than most men in public life, having gone through the tragedy of his brother's assassination in Dallas, Tex., in 1963.

He had in common with other children of Joseph and Rose Kennedy a drive for public service and to do it, above all, superbly.

He joined the justice department soon after graduating from the University of Virginia Law School in 1951, dealing principally with the prosecution of graft and income tax cases. He went with the Senate permanent investigations subcommittee when it organized in 1953, but feuded with chief counsel Roy Cohn over the handling of the hearings by Senator Joseph McCarthy involving the U.S. Army.

TANGLED WITH HOFFA
Kennedy became chief counsel and head of the 65-man investigative staff when a Senate committee was formed in January, 1957, to investigate labor racketeering.

That got him eventually into an epic feud with President James R. Hoffa of the Teamsters Union, who called Kennedy "a young, dim-witted, curly-headed smart-aleck" and a "ruthless monster."

Kennedy was to hear the "ruthless" charge again and again in later years.

As attorney-general in his brother's cabinet, Robert was considered the second most powerful man in Washington.

After John Kennedy was shot, Robert's relationships with John's successor, Lyndon B. Johnson—began to worsen. It is a mutual dislike that is widely known and little denied.

When Kennedy ran for senator from New York in 1964 he said:

"I like to be involved in politics. I like to be involved in government. The charges of ruthlessness and opportunism came up again this year when he jumped into the race for the Democratic presidential nomination—after waiting to see how Senator Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota came out in the New Hampshire primary election. He pointed to Tuesday's California primary election as the ultimate test before the Democratic party's nominating convention in Chicago in August.

He won the primary and at the celebration afterward flashed the victory sign and said "on to Chicago and let's win there." Moments later he lay bleeding in a kitchen corridor.

WORLD BRIEFS

ALL A FAKE

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Wielding a hand grenade, a bandit robbed a Bank of America branch of $23,800 in cash. All 16 employees lay on the floor and lending officer John Tornnessen emptied the cash into a duffel bag. Later, a grenade pin was found on the floor and police said the weapon was probably a dud.

CLOSE OFFICE

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The United States travel agency has closed its office here because of a budget cut by the Congress. A government spokesman said operation of the office, set up five years ago to advise Mexicans about travel in the U.S., will continue in the U.S. Embassy.

CUFFED WRONG MAN
EL MONTE, Calif. (AP) —

The difficult job wasn't capturing the holdup man—he escaped—it was freeing the victim, Lester Stack, a service station attendant handcuffed by the bandit. A series of keys wouldn't open the cuffs, so police took Stack to the station. A hacksaw finally broke the chain. The bandit, who took $50, probably had the key, police said.

MICE IMMUNE

BECCELES, England (AP) — Charlie Crips ran a social club plagued by mice. When he baited traps with cheddar cheese, the mice ignored it and when he tried poison, the mice ate it hungrily and thrived. Crips finally caught the mice by baiting his traps with poisoned cheese.
